Arrival

The snowflakes danced gently to the ground as the Parker family arrived at Treetops Resort, their excitement palpable. It was their first time visiting, and they had chosen "The Bundle" package to make the most of their midweek winter getaway. As they checked in, the friendly staff handed them a welcome brochure detailing their adventure-filled itinerary, complete with skiing, snowboarding, tubing, rentals, lodging, and dining.

Day 1: Hitting the Slopes

The next morning, the Parker family awoke to a winter paradise. After a hearty breakfast at the Hunter's Grille, featuring a spread of warm pancakes, sizzling bacon, and freshly brewed coffee, they headed to the ski rental shop. Equipped with top-of-the-line gear, they were ready to hit the slopes.

Treetops Resort boasts some of the finest skiing and snowboarding terrains in the region, with trails catering to all skill levels. The kids, Alex and Emma, eagerly took their first snowboarding lesson, while parents John and Lisa opted for a guided ski tour of the resort's picturesque trails. The sun glistened off the snow, and laughter echoed through the trees as they navigated the slopes, creating memories they would cherish forever.

Day 2: Tubing and Relaxation

On the second day, it was time for some thrilling tubing. The resort's tubing hill, with its exhilarating twists and turns, provided endless fun. The Parkers raced each other down the slopes, their joyous screams filling the air. Afterward, they warmed up with hot cocoa in the cozy lodge, sharing stories of their adventures.

As the day transitioned to evening, the family indulged in a relaxing soak in the resort's heated indoor pool and hot tub. The soothing waters melted away any lingering chill from the day, preparing them for a delightful dinner at Legends on the Hill. The restaurant's menu, featuring locally sourced ingredients, offered a delicious variety of options, from hearty stews to gourmet burgers.

Day 3: Exploring and Dining

Their final day at Treetops Resort began with yet another fantastic breakfast outing at Legends that was enjoyed by all! Subsequently, they spent the morning exploring the resort's scenic trails on a snowshoeing excursion, marveling at the serene beauty of the winter landscape.

For lunch, they stopped by the Halfway Cafe, where they enjoyed a casual meal with stunning views of the snow-covered hills. The afternoon was spent on one last round of tubing and snowboarding, making the most of their time on the slopes.

In the evening, "The Bundle" included one last special culinary adventure at Legends where they celebrated a great trip.
